

Contents

Introduction	1
 CHAPTER ONE
The Norfolk landscape: Mermaids, angels and a flamingo
Beyond the Great Ouse	8
Why Walsoken was so often soken, and the search for Ongar Hill
And beyond the Waveney	13
An extra corner of Norfolk where the Romans thought great forts!
Trying to follow the Icknield Way	16
The Romans got it straight – too straight – then the ramblers re-invented it
Famous forays into the fens	19
From Popham to Bellamy via Lady de Sodington Blount
The blank space on the map	23
Stanford's unspoilt paradise – when the guns stop firing
Why twitchers love Titchwell	27
Godwits, marsh harriers, even the odd flamingo
The contrast in the crops	31
Lavender is the loveliest – but then there's sugar beet
West Dereham's coprolite	35
Before modern fertilisers it was the dung thing
Medieval church treasures	39
Mermaids on the bench-ends, doom on the walls, angels in the roof
Methodist chapels in new guises	43
'The building has closed, the church remains'
Delving into dovecotes	47
Where doves were doves – until they became pigeon pie

CHAPTER TWO

Remarkable Norfolk people: Prizefighters, bodysnatchers and inventors...

The Baronet and the bodysnatchers	52
Sir Astley Cooper collected fat fees, many honours – and quite a few cadavers
Genius, manic depressive, or just a wimp?	56
The poems, problems and peculiar pets of William Cowper
The man behind the name on Erpingham Church	60
Soldier-statesman, benefactor – and bird-lover?
Anna’s mum had best-sellers too	63
Mrs Sewell’s stories used to outsell her daughter’s
World champion – in the 44th round!	67
Why not ‘Welcome to Jem Mace’s county, it’ll knock you out’?
The MP who invented the horsebox	72
Lord George Bentinck beat the bookies – and has annoyed other road-users ever since
He prosecuted Raleigh and the gunpower plotters	76
Sir Edward Coke gave them quite a rocket
Honoured in America, Canada – and now at home	80
George Vancouver has a statue at last
The original nosey parker	84
Matthew was a shrewd operator too
Not only the Lincolns and Thomas Paine	88
A Spelman, a Townshend and Temperance Flowerdew sailed to America too
Battling women, with sword, pen and guile	93
From a latter-day Boadicea to a female Pimpernel

CHAPTER THREE

Places with strange tales to tell: A bridge, a garden, an abbey...

The four red hands of Homersfield	98
A bizarre crest on England's oldest concrete bridge
Two towers which caused a towering row	101
Town versus gown – or cassock – at Wymondham Abbey
How Oulton acquired its chapel	106
A general and a pastor who chose their wives shrewdly
The hatters, the hermit and Mr Pennoyer	109
How a guild chapel became a village school
The rector who moved Edgefield church	113
'What hills of difficulty, what valleys of depression I went through...'
Jacob and Billy, the images on the Image Barn	117
And the furious farmer who put them there
A pub with a Bible in the bar	121
Customers could 'refresh the mind as well as the body'
High drama at Binham Priory	124
A siege, a king to the rescue, and a workman falling off the roof
The legacies of two eccentric Victorians	127
A garden in a chalk pit and Spanish names in rural Norfolk

CHAPTER FOUR

Legends and traditions: Some are just memories, others still live on

England's only Episcopal wherry	132
The Bishop's annual visit to St Benet's Abbey
'Religious, grave and discreet'	136
The scarlet-cloaked ladies of Castle Rising
Pub games – an endangered species?	140
Long live pitchpenny and the Norfolk Twister

The many fresh starts of the Lynn Mart	144
From St Nicholas to St Valentine via January and June
The art of taking a knap	148
Forget the Flintstones, here's the real thing
When the saints come marching in	151
Walstan, William, Withburga – and Wandregesilus
The original Jack the giantkiller?	155
But Tom Hickathrift was a fair size himself
How the salesman's cross saved Bromholm	159
Was the double crucifix genuine or just a double cross?
Tie another legend round the old oak tree	162
From Robert Kett to some old cobblers
Weird wells – with a body thrown in	166
No wonder some of them are petrifying – literally
The many legends of King Edmund	170
From landing at Hunstanton to dying at Hoxne – or was it Hellesdon?
INDEX	176