

Contents

| | | |
|------------|--|-----------|
| | Introduction | 1 |
| ONE | Starting out | 2 |
| | 1.1 I have just been appointed to my first managerial post – and it’s scary. How do I get over this apprehension? | 2 |
| | 1.2 What can I do ahead of starting the role to ease the transition? | 5 |
| | 1.3 I feel awkward about leading colleagues after being one of them for so long. How do I deal with this? | 8 |
| | 1.4 As a skilled technician, I don’t want to abandon my technical skills entirely. What should I do? | 9 |
| | Summary | 11 |
| TWO | Team issues | 13 |
| | 2.1 I have inherited a team with which I have not worked before. How should I get to know the individual team members? | 13 |
| | 2.2 I wish to build and develop my team, and would like to use some analytical techniques to help me discover more about team members and to identify strengths, weaknesses and any skills gaps. How should I go about this? | 14 |

| | | |
|-----|--|----|
| 2.3 | As part of my people management responsibilities, I sometimes need to recruit new members to replace staff who have left or to fill new gaps in the team. What is the process I should follow and how should I go about this recruitment exercise? | 20 |
| 2.4 | I have a selection of CVs in front of me, all of which fulfill basic qualification criteria. How do I now go about whittling this pile down to a short list? | 25 |
| 2.5 | The interview is always considered the most important aspect of recruiting. How do I set up and run an effective recruitment interview? | 27 |
| 2.6 | I have a new team to work with. In what ways can I expect the team to behave between the point that I take over and the time when I have helped to develop it into a fully effective operation? | 30 |
| 2.7 | I've built my team and it is up and running. What signs and symptoms should I look out for which will tell me that all is going well (or not, as the case may be)? | 32 |
| | Summary | 34 |

THREE Leadership 36

| | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 3.1 | As a manager, I am expected to supervise and lead. What is the difference between managing, leading and supervising? | 36 |
| 3.2 | So now I am a manager, what exactly should I be doing in general terms of a day to day basis? | 39 |
| 3.3 | I am part of what we call a matrix organization. Will the leadership skills that I need to develop in this environment differ from those I would use in a traditional organization? | 41 |

| | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 3.4 | I work in an organization which has multiple offices spread over a wide area. Some of my team members are located in these remote offices. What particular practices should I adopt to ensure that I manage my team effectively even though they are working at a distance from me? | 44 |
| 3.5 | What behavioural style should I adopt when leading my team? | 48 |
| 3.6 | As a team leader, I know that one of my main functions is to motivate my team. What are the key issues that I should concentrate on in order to keep my team happily moving our objectives forward? ... | 52 |
| 3.7 | One of the major fears I have as a manager is making decisions which affect other people, especially my team members. How can I ease this anxiety? | 59 |
| | Summary | 63 |

FOUR Performance management 65

| | | |
|-----|---|----|
| 4.1 | My major responsibility for my team members is that of managing their performance not only on a day to day basis but also over extended periods of time. Are there any overarching models or pegs through which I can focus on the big picture of performance management? | 65 |
| 4.2 | I understand that the annual appraisal meeting with my individual team members is a part of the performance management system, but why am I continually being told that it is so important? What are the benefits of holding appraisals and why am I so reluctant to do them? | 69 |

| | | |
|-----|--|----|
| 4.3 | If the appraisal is a vitally important people management activity, what are the key practical points for running a really effective appraisal process? | 73 |
| 4.4 | How should I now run the appraisal meeting itself? | 75 |
| 4.5 | One of the things which concerns me is how best to give feedback, particularly negative feedback, to a team member in such a way that the team member remains positively motivated. What techniques are there which will help with this issue? | 78 |
| 4.6 | A feedback or other potentially difficult conversation is fine if it all goes well, but what should one do if things turn nasty and there is a real conflict through difference of opinion? | 83 |
| | Summary | 87 |

FIVE Organizational skills for managers 88

| | | |
|-----|--|----|
| 5.1 | Now that I have a team of people to lead and manage as well as myself, it becomes much more important that team operations are well organized. This has never been easy for me. How can I improve my organizational abilities? | 88 |
| 5.2 | I am not particularly good at organizing my own working practices. What tips and techniques should I use to help show the team that I can manage my own as well as their work contributions? | 91 |
| 5.3 | Despite being well organized, I find that I am prone to a variety of interruptions which prevent me from getting on with my to-do list. How should I tackle these interruptions? | 96 |

| | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 5.4 | Like all managers, I need to meet with my team members to discuss issues relevant to our work, gain their views and make decisions. I am not entirely clear about the organizational and administrative issues involved. What should I bear in mind when setting up such meetings and how can I manage them more efficiently and effectively? | 103 |
| 5.5 | Quite apart from organizing meetings, I now have to chair them. What approach should I take to coordinating and managing the discussion so as to ensure an effective outcome alongside efficient management? | 111 |
| | Summary | 113 |

SIX Delegation and coaching114

| | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 6.1 | As a people manager, I recognize that one of the key skills I should develop is the ability to effectively delegate tasks to my team. Why do I find delegating so difficult and scary? | 114 |
| 6.2 | Delegation is said to be one of the key organizational tools for people managers. What are the benefits of delegation and why should I develop the skills to make me a better delegator? | 117 |
| 6.3 | I'm convinced that delegation is a critical activity and skills set which I need to develop, but how do I know what to delegate and who to delegate it to? | 119 |

| | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 6.4 | The main problem I have with delegation is getting the process right so that both the people and task management issues are all successfully handled and I use my managerial skills to best advantage. What procedure should I adopt to ensure that what I delegate is well done? | 123 |
| 6.5 | As a high performer in my previous technical role, I feel that I can make a major contribution in coaching my more junior team members towards improving their own technical skills. What does coaching involve and how should I go about it? | 128 |
| 6.6 | As part of my training and coaching responsibilities, I need to understand how my team member is best able to learn and put into practice the new skills he is acquiring. Are there different ways of learning and differing approaches I should be taking? | 133 |
| | Summary | 137 |

SEVEN Stakeholders 139

| | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 7.1 | As a people manager, I am not solely concerned with the members of my own team but need to build relationships outside the team to ensure that we are generally recognized and supported both within our organization at large, and indeed outside it. How do I make sure that I am aware of everyone with whom I should be building these relationships? | 139 |
| 7.2 | Should I treat all stakeholders the same, or are there different approaches to be taken when dealing with each? | 141 |

| | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 7.3 | Having identified and categorized my stakeholders, how and what should I be communicating with them to ensure maximum returns on my networking investment? | 143 |
| | Summary | 145 |

EIGHT Communication skills146

| | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 8.1 | As a people manager, I need to develop working relationships with my team members. What is the starting point for achieving this? | 146 |
| 8.2 | There are now a wide variety of communication methodologies which I can use to communicate with my team. Are there any ground rules for determining which method I should use for getting across particular information? | 150 |
| 8.3 | As a team leader, I wish to encourage my team members to understand and share my vision for what we should be doing and developing for the future. How do I set about achieving this? | 154 |
| 8.4 | I understand that in order to obtain information, I must ask incisive questions. What types of question can I usefully ask, and are there any which I should avoid? | 156 |
| 8.5 | I am told that I am not a very good listener and that this upsets and annoys those with whom I am conversing. How can I improve my listening skills? | 160 |
| 8.6 | What is body language and why is it so important that my body language is correct when holding a conversation? What in particular should I be aware of? | 164 |

| | | |
|------|--|-----|
| 8.7 | I understand that assertiveness is one of the key skills required to influence effectively, but am not sure exactly what it is. How do I know if I am being assertive and what are the key characteristics I should consciously be developing? | 167 |
| 8.8 | One of the aims of influencing is to persuade the other side to accept your point of view. Are there any techniques which will assist me with the process of persuading? How could I use these effectively? | 173 |
| 8.9 | I am never very confident that I make a real impact when I am presenting my views and hoping to influence my team or colleagues. What can I do to ensure that my views are heard and respected? | 179 |
| 8.10 | A significant element of successful influencing must involve developing a solid personal understanding between me and the person with whom I'm communicating. Are there any tips for helping to cement this understanding? | 182 |
| | Summary | 185 |

NINE Change management187

| | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 9.1 | There are major changes afoot with my department and they will impact strongly on my team. What are the key issues I should be thinking about in setting out to manage these changes effectively? | 187 |
| 9.2 | My observation tells me that many change initiatives either fail or do not have outcomes as successful as they should be. Why is this? | 188 |

| | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 9.3 | As a people manager seeking to implement change, what key skills should I be developing and utilizing to see the change process through? | 191 |
| 9.4 | So, I now know what change leadership skills I need to utilize, but what sort of structured process should I follow to ensure a change transition that is as smooth as possible? | 194 |
| 9.5 | As a people manager, my greatest concern is how to win over my team members to accept the changes that I wish to implement. There will always be some who are less enthusiastic than others. How do I win all of my team over to the new way of doing things? | 197 |
| | Summary | 203 |

TEN Overcoming stress 204

| | | |
|------|--|-----|
| 10.1 | I am finding life as a people manager tough because of everyday tensions brought about by the responsibilities surrounding constant human interaction with my team members. Sometimes I feel really stressed and almost unable to cope. Why is this? | 204 |
| 10.2 | What are the specific issues in my working life which are likely to be key stressors, and how can I resolve the resulting problems so as to reduce my stress levels? | 207 |
| 10.3 | We all come under serious pressure from time to time despite our best endeavours to avoid stress. What personal strategies should be adopted to reduce the effects of stress to a minimum? | 212 |
| | Summary | 215 |